

Location Map for our offices in the Cockcroft building.

NB:

1. The entrance to the building is in the inside corner of the Cockcroft and Austin buildings – roughly where the head of the pin is, on this map: Cockcroft Building: Map of the University of Cambridge.
2. There are lots of signs on the New Museums site pointing to our permanent offices in the Old Cavendish building. Ignore these signs, as we are currently housed in the Cockcroft building.

Detailed directions for our offices in the Cockcroft building:

- Use a SatNav to find your way to the Museum of Zoology, on the New Museums Site, Downing Street, CB2 3EJ.
- Enter the site through the archway on Downing Street and, as you come out of the archway, you will see the Museum on your right. Don't turn in to the museum - just keep walking straight on past, keeping the museum on your right and the Downing Street archway directly behind you. You'll come to a large number of bicycle racks.
- As soon as you see the bicycle racks, turn left, so that you have the museum behind your left shoulder, and the bicycle racks in front of your right shoulder. You should see an entrance door ahead of you, tucked into the corner of two buildings. This door has a few signs on it - one of them says Centre for Family Research!
- Take the lift (if it is working!) or the stairs up to the 4th floor.
- If you take the lift, as you exit the lift, you'll see our entrance door to your left.
- If you take the stairs, go up until you reach the top, at which point the staircase branches off to the left and right. Take the right-hand branch, come through the door, and this will take you to our entrance door, as above.

NB: Lots of people struggle to find the correct entrance to the Cockcroft building so, we recommend you use these detailed directions in conjunction with the map linked at the top of this page.